QUALITY GIFTS

I want you to picture something. Let's say you got invited to the White House for a senator's birthday party. (No, I don't know why you, just work with me here.) And let's say you thought it would be rude to show up without a gift. But what kind of gift would you bring a senator? Would you re-gift something that was laying around in your house? Would you give him one of your out of date appliances? Would your gift include a card that you made yourself with your kid's crayons? Hmm . . . probably not.

Malachi makes a point based on this truth. People were bringing to God lousy gifts. So He says: "When you bring blind animals for sacrifice, is that not wrong? When you sacrifice crippled or diseased animals, is that not wrong? Try offering them to your governor! Would he be pleased with you? Would he accept you?" (Malachi 1:8) If we were to come before one of the world's officials we would bring a good gift. How much more so when we come before God!

So today let's give God a good gift. Let's give Him our devoted hearts. That's just what He always wanted. Let's remember that God has done so much for us and love Him above all others.

ELDERS' EDIFICATION AND ENCOURAGEMENT CORNER

Show Proper Respect to Everyone (1 Peter 2:17)

We often hear one person say something along the lines of, "He (or she) hasn't earned my respect." Parents often say this of their teenage children. Most of us slip into this way of thinking when we talk about politicians. It's normal to feel this way, yet it isn't the attitude God wants us to have. We can be aware of others' faults, and there may be times when we need to confront sin, yet the Bible tells us that we need to maintain an attitude of respect for everybody.

A good starting point is to respect others because God said to. For example, we read in the Bible that husbands and wives are to respect their spouse: ... and the wife must respect her husband (Ephesians 5:33). Husbands, in the same way be considerate as you live with your wives, and treat them with respect ... (1 Peter 3:7).

The same principle applies to other relationships. Peter wrote that we should show respect to everyone and honor the king, although the king in those days was an evil person (1 Peter 2:17). You can respect your spouse, child, parent, boss or others because of their position. For example, after David killed Goliath, he became more popular than King Saul. Saul became jealous and determined to kill David, so David fled.

Saul gathered his army and chased David. On two different occasions, when Saul's army was pursuing David, David had the chance to kill Saul. Most of us would say that David had every right to kill Saul. After all, Saul was trying to kill him. Yet although he knew that Saul's actions did not deserve respect, David honored Saul as his king and refused to kill him. At his second opportunity to kill Saul, David said, "The LORD forbid that I should lay a hand on the LORD'S anointed" (1 Samuel 26:11).

Here are a few thoughts that we may find helpful when looking for ways to respect each other:

- Everyone is imperfect. Be careful not to let their failures erode your respect for their good qualities
- You can find something to respect in anybody if you look hard enough.
- When with Christians, you are with God's children and should honor them accordingly—regardless of how they are acting. (When with non-Christians, respect is still necessary!)
- The Bible says, "For in the image of God has God made man" (Genesis 9:6). Whether or not someone is a Christian, honor him or her as God's creation.
- The Bible says, "This is love: not that we loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as an atoning sacrifice for our sins" (1 John 4:10). Do not dishonor someone God loves.
- Your husband, wife, child, boss or employee may make foolish decisions. He or she may be lazy and forgetful. Yet chances are good he or she wants to be a good person and do the right thing. You can respect the desire of someone's heart even if you are disappointed by his or her actions.
- See others as God does. Each of us has an amazing potential. Gideon was a fearful man, living hidden from the enemy, yet the angel of the Lord greeted him by saying, "The Lord is with you, mighty warrior" (Judges 6:12). The angel's greeting was not because of anything Gideon had done, but because he knew how God planned to use Gideon.

Love, Chuck

CALL TO WORSHIP

The heavens declare
the glory of God;
the skies proclaim the
work of his hands.
Day after day they
pour forth speech;
night after night they reveal knowledge.

Psalm 19:1-2

SCRIPTURE READING

These people honor
me with their lips,
but their hearts
are far from me.
